Dear future Radigan Remodeling and Design client,

We are elated with the entire Radigan Remodeling and Design team. They transformed our home into something that brings us pride and joy on a daily basis. We cannot say enough good things about the craftsmanship of their work, or the integrity behind their word.

Their craftsmanship is but one of the many great characteristics that sets their company apart from their competitors. When remodeling, there are always retrofit challenges that pop up, but their master carpenters provided aesthetic solutions every time. We appreciate the fact that they work with local vendors whenever possible, while providing a quality product that fit within our budget. It was an amazing experience to send them random Pinterest images of our home aspirations, and have them produce 3D digital renderings and physical material samples that made it easy to visualize our project and our future home. Radigan Remodeling and Design exceeded our expectations! We were incredibly appreciative for their insight along the way. They helped us to determine where to spend the majority of our budget and how to select materials that suit our life style, in order to gain the greatest return on our project. The result was outstanding, on time and within budget!

Their design services are yet another attribute that sets them high above their competitors. It was comforting to have Radigan Remodeling and Design (as well as their expert colleagues) help guide our design decisions towards a cohesive finished project. It's always been our dream to pick out our own home finishes all at once, but it felt more overwhelming than we had anticipated when it came down to it. The Radigan team helped provide the assurance necessary for us to be confident in our final selections.

Radigan Remodeling and Design paid great attention in caring for our home while maintaining a clean and orderly job site. They always left the site cleaner than when they arrived. They were respectful in preserving our belongings and existing home finishes, and they were happy to work around our busy schedules.

Most of all, everyone at Radigan Remodeling and Design is an absolute joy to work with. Every one of the bunch is warm, friendly, professional and trustworthy, not to mention talented! We never had the slightest worry about crews being unattended in our home with our possessions or even with our children. They genuinely felt more like friends than service providers. They were good for a laugh every day, and for happy tears at the end.

It was a sincere pleasure doing business with Radigan Remodeling and Design. Most customers are glad to see their contractor go, but we're looking forward to the next project! You won't be disappointed.

With warm regards,

The Batmales
